Food for thought…

- Individuals’ experiences of hunger and malnutrition are intrinsically linked to their gender

- Gender inequality remains one of the biggest issues affecting sustainable development, economic prosperity and a zero hunger world

- Can we reach Zero hunger without achieving gender equality?
Contextualizing GEWE to WFP’s work

What does Gender Equality and Women’s Empowerment mean to WFP?

- For WFP, promoting gender equality means providing food assistance in ways that assign equal value to women and men while respecting their differences. The treatment of women and men should be impartial and relevant to their respective needs.

- For WFP, women’s empowerment means that food assistance policies and programmes must create conditions that facilitate, and do not undermine, the possibilities for women’s empowerment.
Recall: Gender Policy 2015-2020

Goal

To enable WFP to integrate gender equality and women’s empowerment into all of its work and activities, to ensure that the different food security and nutrition needs of women, men, girls and boys are addressed.

Objectives

I: Food assistance adapted to different needs

II: Equal participation

III: Decision-making by women and girls

IV: Gender and protection

WFP progress on the UNSWAP

- Approaching
- Meets
- Exceeds
- Not Applicable
Challenges

- Need for additional financial and human resources to scale up the Gender Transformation Programme and other programmes of work (including evidence-based research)
- Support to Gender Results Network members and gender officers
- Lack of attention to gender in emergencies and crises
- Minimal gender capacities and understanding of gender in the organization
The ask

- Continued advocacy for gender equality at the Board
- Continued support, technical and financial to gender
- Open dialogue and partnership between WFP and the Board members
Thank you!
