Situation Update

- WFP's latest food and nutrition security report indicates that 3.6 million people are currently severely food insecure—an unprecedented level despite seasonal improvements in line with the harvest season. Among these, 600,000 people are in urban centres across the country. Food and nutrition security is anticipated to deteriorate further in 2017, with 4.6 million people likely to be severely food insecure in the first quarter of the year. The continued deterioration of the food security situation comes as a result of spiralling prices, hyperinflation, poor harvests, continued displacement and disruption of trade and livelihood activities.

WFP Response

Food and Nutrition Assistance

- In Northern Bahr el Ghazal, Phase IV distributions are ongoing, through which WFP plans to assist 505,000 people. So far, 60 percent of the targeted beneficiaries have been registered, while about 100,000 people have already received assistance.
- WFP successfully completed an Integrated Rapid Response Mechanism (IRRM) mission in Ngoku, a community south of Wau (Western Bahr el Ghazal). More than 15,700 people received a food ration from WFP alongside nutrition screening, vaccinations, WASH and protection services provided by UNICEF.
- IRRM teams are also providing assistance to about 271,000 people in Fangak, Uror (Jonglei), Panyijiar (Unity), Luakpiny/Nassir, Ulang and Fashoda (Upper Nile). In the coming weeks, IRRM teams will deploy to 18 locations in Jonglei, Unity and Upper Nile states, through which 282,000 people will receive assistance.

Keeping in line with WFP South Sudan's commitment to mainstreaming gender in all aspects of our work, the office launched the Men Stand for Gender Equality group that encourages men to commit to promoting gender equality. The launch of the group was marked with a discussion on how conflict affects men, boys, women and girls differently, and how WFP can help to promote gender equality.
