

GENERAL CONTEXT

October 2021

EVALUATION

November 2022

KEY FINDINGS & CONCLUSIONS

KEY SUCCESS FACTORS

HIV remains a relevant issue for WFP in delivering its mandate of leaving no one behind

Nutrition-specific interventions play a significant role in meeting the urgent nutritional needs of affected populations

Effective performance of WFP is largely underpinned by its responsiveness, innovation and strong reputation

Programme effectiveness on HIV and Nutrition is increased through partnerships

CHALLENGES

Significant changes in the HIV landscape of late mean the Policy is no longer relevant

Commitment to nutrition integration is not yet matched by the institutional architecture to fully implement it

The absence of a strategy to manage declining funding puts the reputation of WFP at risk

Limited investment over the longer term compromises the ability to sustain partner collaboration

Limited evidence on the effective integration of gender equality and inclusion in programme design and implementation

RECOMMENDATIONS

1

Agree on how best to integrate HIV in programming to ensure global commitments on leaving no one behind are met

2

Articulate a comprehensive approach to nutrition integration for WFP

3

Develop and action a systematic process for the effective operationalization of nutrition integration

4

Enhance capacities in nutrition and HIV across WFP, both to enhance existing expertise and nutrition integration

5

Elevate the status of knowledge management consolidating learning across WFP and informing advocacy approaches

6

Focus on WFP comparative advantages and continue to pursue strategic long-term alliances
