Monitoring

- WFP Haiti's Annual Country Report for 2023 has been published, highlighting the fact that over 2 million beneficiaries were reached last year and showcasing partner-supported achievements.
- In March, the latest IPC results analysis was published and revealed the deterioration of Haiti's food security with the worst results ever recorded since 2010: 50% (nearly 5 million people) face acute food insecurity; including 1.65 million people at emergency levels (IPC4). The key drivers remain: Increased violence, rising prices, and poor agriculture from low rainfall.

Challenges

- In March, violent attacks by armed groups severely restricted access to communities in need in Haiti, especially in the Port-au-Prince metropolitan area, with disruptions at the airport and seaport halting supply inflows. Despite these obstacles, WFP maintained operations, expanding food assistance rapidly to over half a million people, including internally displaced persons across 53 sites in the metropolitan area. However, the continuation of these operations may face further challenges, with the imminent risk of running out of food stocks by the end of April if the closure remains.
